

nuTsie sideTunes Adds Unlimited Free Music to iTunes

SEATTLE, WA--(Marketwire - June 4, 2008) - nuTsie.com (<http://www.nuTsie.com>) today announced the availability of sideTunes (<http://www.nutsie.com/sidetunes>), a full-track music discovery service that extends the value of Apple's market-leading iTunes music management software. nuTsie sideTunes (<http://www.nutsie.com/sidetunes>) offers iTunes users multiple ways to access new music, legally and for free, without leaving their own iTunes libraries.

"The music business is changing at light speed, but one thing that remains constant is the joy of finding a new song or artist that speaks directly to you," said Dave Dederer, Vice President of Business Development at Melodeo and founding member of the GRAMMY-nominated, multi-platinum rock band The Presidents of the United States of America. "nuTsie sideTunes brings a superior music discovery experience right to where most people listen to their music -- iTunes."

Dederer added, "Like everybody else I know, I use iTunes to manage my music collection. The only thing missing from my iTunes library is new music. nuTsie sideTunes provides that missing piece."

nuTsie sideTunes (<http://www.nutsie.com/sidetunes>) users can mix full-track recommendations into their iTunes listening experience, selecting anywhere from 0% to 100% new music; listen to hundreds of thousands of playlists from other users; buy recommended songs and add them to their library in a seamless experience within iTunes; grab recommended songs and add them to a playlist they can access at any time; and share music with their friends, including on Facebook (http://apps.facebook.com/nutsie_music).

nuTsie (<http://www.nuTsie.com>) is a synchronized web and mobile music service that allows anyone to upload and listen to their iTunes music in hi-fi quality on any web-connected PC, mobile phone or BlackBerry device, as well as explore other users' playlists and share music with friends. nuTsie's proprietary recommendation engine adds new music based on the user's existing library in any percentage requested by the user. nuTsie (<http://www.nuTsie.com>) users can easily find and listen to new music anywhere, anytime.

nuTsie sideTunes (<http://www.nutsie.com/sidetunes>) is currently available for Windows-powered PCs. Mac support will be announced soon.
